TWO DIED IN PITTSBURGH BLAZE TODAY

Women Lose Lives While Six Others Are Injured As Fire Sweeps Tene-ment Section

FIREMEN ARE BUSY

Pittsburgh, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Two women perished and six persons were injured, including four firemen, in a spectacular five-alarm fire which swept a row of five tenement houses in the Herron Hill section early today.

Ten families—30 persons—were routed by the fire, which destroyed three of the buildings and damaged the other two. Firemen estimated the loss at $20,000.

The dead were Mrs. Martha Pukowski, 54, and her daughter, Mrs. Helen Tolusciak, 30, both of whom had wakened their children, when flames sweeping up a stairway trapped them in their second floor apartment on Paulowna St.

Running to a window, Richard Tolusciak, 8, leaped to safety into the arms of an unidentified man. Sylvia Pukowski, 14, also tried to leap into the arms of a rescuer, but landed on the sidewalk. Both children were hospitalized with burns. Three other Pukowski children escaped without incident. Mrs. Pukowski's husband, Joseph, was injured by a hit-run driver on Christmas eve.

The injured firemen were either burned or cut by flying glass.

Firemen scarcely caught their breath before they were called to another blaze, which swept through a four-story business building on Grant street, opposite the federal building in the downtown section. Starting in the kitchen of the embassy restaurant, the fire caused damage estimated by Fire Chief William H. Davis at $25,000.

The second fire had one casualty—Ann Toomey, 28-year-old waitress employed in the second-story bartender's club. She was treated for smoke inhalation. Seven persons in the club, including Miss Toomey, were helped or carried down ladders by firemen.

Six alarms were turned in to get extra equipment to the scene and prevent spread of the fire to other buildings. Auto and street car traffic was rerouted in Grant street for hours.

Cotton In Decoration Started Fire

Hartford, Conn., Dec. 26.—(AP)—The Christmas eve fire that took 17 lives at the Niles Street Hospital here got a head start because it burned through telephone wires, causing a delay in the sounding of the alarm. Edward J. Hickey, state police commissioner and state fire marshal, has disclosed.

Because of the few minutes that elapsed between the time the fire broke out in a tinder dry Christmas tree and the sounding of almost simultaneous telephone and box alarms by a next door resident and a passer-by, Hickey said last night, many of the 31 elderly, bedridden patients in the hospital were beyond aid when the first firemen arrived.

Thirteen patients, two of them women over 90, and two kitchen employees died in the fire or within a few minutes after it. Two more patients died yesterday. Fourteen of the victims were women.

Eighteen other persons, 16 patients and two visitors at the institution for convalescents and the chronically ill, were injured, five of them critically. Ten firemen also were hospitalized.

Hickey, planning to resume today the investigation, he began even while firemen were battling the flames and carrying charred (Turn to Page Nine)

President Truman Had Full Day With Missouri Home Folks

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Independence, Mo., Dec. 26.—(AP)—President Truman went merrily about celebrating the Christmas holidays today as his home folk showed every disposition to allow him to do it in his own way.

His round of Yuletide calls spread to Kansas City, where friends were invited to drop into his office in the federal building for an exchange of season greetings.

Mr. Truman covered plenty of territory upon his arrival here yesterday by plane from Washington through sleet and storm. He went immediately by automobile over icy pavements for a 25-minute visit with his mother, 93-year-old Mrs. Mattie E. Truman, at nearby Grandview.

His delayed departure from Washington, putting him in Kansas City at 5:55 p.m. (eastern standard time), prevented his customary appearance at three Christmas dinners. Upon his return to Independence from Grandview, he ate turkey and trimmings with Mrs. Truman, his daughter, Margaret, and Mrs. Truman's family.

New Shoes for Picket Duty

A new pair of shoes was an appropriate gift from members of the family to John McIntosh of Detroit, on strike from General Motors' Turnstedt plant. He says he'll use them to replace the well-worn pair which has been serving him on picket duty.

Christmas Was Busy Day For State Highway Employees

State highway crews were kept busy all through the day yesterday on Christmas, eased up today—and there wasn't a cold wave in the immediate offing.

Fresh falls of snow covered a wide section of the northern half of the country and in the south and southeastern sections skies cleared after sleet and rain yesterday. New England states got a (Turn to Page Nine)

Blast Kills Three, Injures Five Others

Santa Barbara, Calif., Dec. 26.—(AP)—Three persons were killed, a fourth is missing and five others were injured, none seriously, when an explosion of a butane gas truck destroyed a warehouse-apartment building here today.

Local highway trucks were unable to clear the roads in all sections before the snowfall late yesterday afternoon. Now that the temperature has turned colder, said Lowe, it makes just that much harder to clear the highways.

Frances Watson, another resident, was unaccounted for, but friends said they believed she was out of the city on a holiday visit.

The injured included Anthony Berta, truck driver, who explained the explosion: "I stepped on the starter and the butane just took off."

Earle Weds In Turkey On Friday

Istanbul, Dec. 26.—(AP)—George H. Earle, 3rd, 55, former governor of Pennsylvania, soldier, sailor, and diplomat, will marry a 23-year-old Belgian beauty here Friday.

The former U. S. minister to Bulgaria and recently placed on inactive duty as a commander in the navy, Earle will marry Jacqueline Marthe Jermine Sacre, Paris-born daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Charles Sacre of Ostend, Belgium.

The bride-to-be's father is in charge of construction of new railroads in southern Turkey.

Earle, who served as Pennsylvania's governor from 1935 to 1939—first Democrat Keystone state had elected in 44 years and one was never elected to that post since—will be married at civil ceremony at the Istanbul municipal building. Only the bride's parents and a few witnesses including Robert B. McAtee, United States consul general, and Charles McVicar, a vice-consul, will attend.

The couple, it was announced, will be remarried in a religious service at the U. S. consulate. Rev. Ezra Young, Pittsburgh Congregationalist minister, will officiate.

Earle has four children by a previous marriage: George, 28; Hubert, 26; Lawrence, 21, and Ralph, 14.

His first wife, Mrs. Huberta Potter Earle, divorced him last June after 29 years of married life.

Earle enlisted in the army in (Turn to Page Nine)

BIG THREE RESULTS OF CONFERENCE

Will Tell the World Thursday Accomplishments of Moscow Talks and Accord on Topics

MUCH ACHIEVED

By EDDY GILMORE
Moscow, Dec. 26.—(AP)—The Big Three foreign ministers, after a lengthy Christmas Day session, arranged today to announce the results of their 11-day conference, in which achievements were reliably reported to include concrete agreements on several vital world issues.

A British source said a communiqué will be issued at 2 a.m. tomorrow (6 p.m. today eastern standard time).

The three foreign ministers already have reached an accord on the procedure for drafting the European peace settlement.

Authoritative quarters said U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was highly pleased with the results of his discussions with Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

Far more has been achieved, these quarters said, than was even contemplated when Byrnes left Washington. The full extent of the agreements reached was not indicated, but one of Byrnes' aides said the results would not be disappointing.

One of the accords was said to deal with control of Japan, which was high on the list of complicated problems on the agenda. Whether an agreement was reached on the number one problem, control of atomic energy, remained a matter of speculation.

It was reported, however, that the three foreign ministers had discussed the American-British-Canadian policy on world control of atomic energy during their meetings.

Another important question on the agenda was the withdrawal of British, American and Russian troops from Iran, but the outcome of discussions of this problem also was undisclosed.

The already-announced accord on procedure for drafting European treaties, regarded by observers as close to the compromise formula proposed by Byrnes at the five-power foreign ministers' conference in London, has been submitted to France and China for their approval. China was reported to have approved the agreement already, but no word has been received from the French government.

Byrnes hoped to be able to get away from Moscow sometime today. His advisors expressed doubt that he would be able to do so, but his plane was being held in readiness, however, for immediate departure as soon as the business of the conference was completed.

Frances Watson, another resident, was unaccounted for, but friends said they believed she was out of the city on a holiday visit.

The injured included Anthony Berta, truck driver, who explained the explosion: "I stepped on the starter and the butane just took off."

BULLETINS

Detroit, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Pickets in the General Motors strike returned to action at some factory gates today after a four-day Christmas weekend holiday. Striker representatives and heads of General Motors meanwhile prepared for their first negotiation meeting (2:30 p.m. EST) since they had appeared before President Truman's fact-finding board in Washington last week.

Why are Prescriptions often Written in Latin?

• Perhaps you have noticed that the prescriptions which your physician writes are usually written in Latin. No doubt you have wondered why. Prescriptions are written in Latin because Latin is a dead and never-changing language, universally employed in medical practice. A Latin prescription written in America or England can be filled in Puerto Rico, Russia, or France, even though the pharmacist may not know a word of English. On the other hand, no matter where your prescriptions may be written, we can fill them promptly and accurately. That is our specialty.

PHONE 82 — WARREN, PA.Cars Taken To Aid Movement Of Soldiers

In spite of the heavy passenger movements on the local division of the Pennsylvania railroad there can be no extra coaches added to the trains as cars have been taken to the west coast in large numbers. Both the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads report that hundreds of cars have been made up into trains and rushed to the west coast in an effort to get returning troops to their homes in the east.

Railroads are being taxed as never before and the advice to stay at home should be taken literally by all. Only strictly necessary trips should be taken until the peak of troop movement is passed which is expected in February.

Local trains have been crowded to capacity during the past few days and Indiana Gap put through almost 5000 men on the day before Christmas so that the men could be home for the holiday.

A few cars slid into each other, a couple of drunks sang carols, a fire call came in and a woman mislaid her purse but the coppers took it all in stride over the holiday. They just had a swell Christmas and got cigarettes, talcum powder for their faces and a host of other things too numerous to mention.

Smith, Secretary and treasurer and Director of Pennsylvania Gas Company, will retire from active service after having served continuously with the company for more than forty-six years. Mr. Smith is also Secretary and Treasurer and Director of Pennsylvania Oil Company and Jefferson County Gas Company, which companies are affiliated with Pennsylvania Gas Company.

For the next ten years he served capacities at Royston and in the company's natural gas producing territory known as Ludlow and Elk County fields.

On January 1, 1909, he was transferred to the general office in Warren, and since that time has advanced through the various office classifications until he attained the highest position in the accounting department. On April 3, 1922, Mr. Smith was elected Assistant Secretary and Assistant Treasurer of both Pennsylvania Gas Company and Pennsylvania Oil Company, and on January 28, 1925, he was elected a Director of these two companies. On January 24, 1940, he was elected to the position of Secretary and Treasurer.

On December 12, 1944, Jefferson County Gas Company became associated with Pennsylvania Gas Company and Pennsylvania Oil Company, and Mr. Smith was elected Secretary and Treasurer and Director of that company.

Mr. Smith's many friends will continue to see him as he plans to maintain his residence in Warren.

THE REFRESHING WISDOM OF YOUTH

The young people have taken a pretty severe mental, spiritual and psychological—if not physical—beating during the past half-dozen years.

There has been talk, talk, talk and printed words by the yard, on the problems of juvenile delinquency. Elders, oftentimes in patronizing fashion, have pontificated on the problem and how it should be solved.

It is refreshing, therefore, to take note of the fact that the children and youth of America's schools are busy searching for standards of the good life while their seniors the land across are preoccupied with fault-finding, name-calling, backbiting, lurid disputes on a variety of matters.

A country-wide poll of high school student opinion on "proper aims in life" results in this verdict:

Happiness, the "simple life" and security are infinitely more desirable than money, fame or personal power. Only four per cent of the youngsters polled declared that their chief aim in life is to "make money." More than 44 per cent said they prefer "a simple, secure and happy life without making a lot of money or becoming famous."

Grownups would do well to ponder the results of this poll—as well as some of the more specific replies, such as these:

1. "Most people would be a lot happier if they were not trying to be big-shots."

2. "Only those who are happy can be genuinely successful."

3. "We must pursue higher goals if we want a better and more intelligent world."

SERMON IN UNPREPAREDNESS

There is, or ought to be, a sermon in preparedness in two statements made recently by American military leaders.

There was this declaration from Brig. Gen. Emmett O'Donnell of the U. S. Army Air Forces:

"Due to the hysterical demands of the people made upon congressmen to get the boys home, today we have no air force worthy of the name; we are in a bad way defensively."

The other was the statement made by General Marshall before the Pearl Harbor investigating committee:

"A month before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, we were not in any position whatever to back up with military strength any warning that might have been sent to Japan".

Inevitable conclusion to be drawn from General O'Donnell's remark is that we are on our way—and losing no time about it—back to the condition of unpreparedness which existed before the war. Our magnificent military strength, greatest in world history, already has been largely dissipated.

And one realizes from General Marshall's testimony that the situation he described as existing before Pearl Harbor is this very condition of unpreparedness—we're in a bad way defensively"—into which we're again sinking, and fast.

Will the United States of America ever learn to put its trust in strength, not in fate?

FAVORITE STORY

Izaak Walton, the pioneer angler, used to tell about a certain braggart who always boasted about the size and weight of the fish he caught, proving his claims with a certain pair of scales—always the same.

One day during his absence from home, a neighbor woman dropped in with a month-old infant, asked to weigh it. The bragging fisherman's scales were produced. Imagine the mother's astonishment when the babe's weight zoomed to 52 pounds!

The angler was asked later to explain the seeming inaccuracy of his scales. But he beamed proudly at the baby's mother:

The angler was asked later to explain the seeming inaccuracy of his scales. But he beamed proudly at the baby's mother:

"Why, Mrs. Jones," said he, "I've always told you that baby was big for his age."

MACKENZIE'S Column

AP World Traveler
Dublin, Dec. 26.—The comparatively new republic of Eire has come through the vicissitudes of birth and not only is enjoying greater prosperity than southern Ireland has known before but the signs seem propitious for even better times.

The way things look now the emerald isle, with its silver lakes and mild climate—a paradise for golfers and fishermen—may become a favorite holiday resort for countries of both hemispheres. This possibility lies in the fact that it is a major strategic stop on the northern air route between America and Europe. Eire now is energetically developing its own airline to the big English airport at Croydon, from which other lines radiate to the continent, making Ireland an easy place to reach.

Sure, I realize the reader may be remarking that Eire owes part of her better times to the fact that she was neutral in the war, despite American and British pleas for naval bases. It's true that Eire did profit economically by her neutrality, and I shall deal with that in another article.

Now in speaking of greater prosperity for Eire I don't want to give a wrong impression. She is vastly better off than she was, but it's only a dozen years ago that the poverty in many areas was appalling. Thousands lived on potatoes and salt, and were happy if they had a bit of bread as well. Starvation swept wide areas when the potato crop failed.

In the few years that the government under the leadership of Eamon De Valera has been in power, there has been a reorganization of the country's economy. Southern Ireland used to depend mainly on cattle raising for its income. Meantime it imported two-thirds of its foodstuffs and much of its fodder.

I visited Dublin in 1932, when De Valera was starting his reform, and studied his program. The country then grew only 31,000 acres of wheat. Now it produces 660,000 acres—the entire requirement of the country—and grows all its fodder besides. Manufactures also have been started, though the war has interfered.

The cleaning up of slums has gone forward, and when the war made rebuilding impossible, the government continued to remodel slum buildings with the existing materials.

Nowadays, too, the under-privileged, the unemployed, widows with children, and aged people get help from the government, but a lot of people are talking about it these days.

It has been applied to the diplomatic field for years. If the United Nations Organization is established in the United States, you'll hear much more of it.

May La Guardia of New York has stated that he is confident New York City eventually will be selected as the home for UNO and has suggested that some thought be given to extraterritoriality—a word almost as long as Mr. La Guardia is tall.

Official quarters tell me that the country is on its feet economically. It is, they add with pride, prepared to meet the post-war stresses and take advantage of opportunities.

WHAT IT means is that a person or thing is outside of local laws. The British Embassy in Washington is regarded a part of the British Empire and the United States Embassy in Moscow as a tiny segment of the USA. It makes possible a sanctuary abroad where representatives of a nation may completely mind their own business.

This immunity is extended also to an ambassador or minister, his secretaries and other aides, his family, his household servants and others officially associated with him.

Technically an American cop cannot pinch an ambassador for driving his car through a stop sign or for burning down a church to see the fire engines run. In fact, if such an arrest is made, a police officer can be sentenced to up to three years in jail and fined any amount a judge considers proper.

But there are ways of checking abuses. Were a diplomatic representative to make himself obnoxious by wilfully disregarding this nation's laws, the U.S. State Department could make his activities known to his government. It's a good bet the erring diplomat would be called home.

A government also can waive the right of diplomatic immunity and permit one of its representatives to be tried in a court of the nation where an offense is committed.

This diplomatic immunity—which is enjoyed equally by American officials abroad—stems from something more than an effort on the part of one nation to be polite to another's representatives. It has a practical application: to permit a foreign government to conduct its affairs abroad without interference or molestation.

HERE'S AN example of what might happen if such immunity were not practiced:

Nation A and Nation B aren't on good terms. So A decides to hamper the work of B's representatives. It pinches the ambassador for speeding, a secretary for spitting on the sidewalk, another aide for whistling after 9 p.m., and pretty soon the whole staff is locked up.

Nation B then retaliates by pinching all of A's staff. Work is interrupted, not only for the two nations in question, but for all other nations wishing to carry on negotiations with A and B.

Vacation Home of the Churchills

The palm-shaded two-story residence, above, in Miami Beach, Fla., reportedly will be the residence of former British Prime Minister Winston Churchill when he arrives in the U.S. with Mrs. Churchill and their daughter in January for a vacation. The property belongs to Col. Frank Clarke of Quebec, a host to the Churchills on previous occasions.

Military Requirements For Railroads Greater Than Ever

"Military movements on the Pennsylvania Railroad are heavier now than ever before, and are still increasing in volume," C. H. Mathews, Jr., Passenger Traffic Manager, said today. "Contrary to the opinion which seems to be widely held, that the termination of the war, military travel requirements are in a declining phase, the reverse is the case. Within recent weeks, new high records have been made, and the final peak will probably not be reached until some time in January or February. Even after that, we expect the military demands upon our passenger facilities will remain extremely heavy, at least into late spring."

Since Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941, Mr. Mathews stated, the Pennsylvania Railroad has transported a total of 16,559,236 members of the armed forces, moving in organized groups or traveling as individuals on military business. To accommodate them has required the operation of 27,757 extra trains, totaling approximately 428,000 cars. In addition, large numbers of trips have been made by groups of limited size in special cars attached to regular trains, and by individuals riding in cars open to civilians.

Many millions of other journeys have also been made by men and women in all branches of the Armed Services, traveling on furlough for personal reasons, but of which no separate records exist.

Four successive new high marks of military travel on the Pennsylvania have been scored over weekly periods since midsummer, it was explained. The first was for the week ending August 25, when 141,394 military passengers were handled. In the week ending September 15, the number of military journeys rose to 147,646.

Aye, There's the Rub!

For 30 years, John McIlroy, of Passaic, N. J., has been rubbing, rubbing. At 8 o'clock each morning, he starts out with his tools, a batch of erasers of assorted sizes and new sections of advertising posters. He travels through New York's subway stations, erasing or covering up the mustaches, beards, eye-glasses, and other "artistic" additions which would-be humorists pencil in on the ads. McIlroy, pictured above on the job, estimates that he has erased 36,000 mustaches during his career.

Attorneys for Pearl Harbor Committee Quit

The four-man legal staff, above, of the congressional Pearl Harbor Investigating Committee resigned in a body, protesting the length of the hearings. The attorneys, left to right, are Jule M. Hanneford, John E. Masten, Gerhard A. Gesell, and William D. Mitchell, who is chief counsel. Resignations are to be effective when their successors are named and take over.

How Well Has General Electric Met These Objectives?

HIGHER WAGES

Here's how General Electric's increased production and efficiency have affected G-E workers. Average hourly earnings for men, not including overtime pay, have gone up as follows:

1935	$.72
193673
193781
193887
193986
194085
194189
194296
1943	1.05
1944	1.09
1945 (Sept.)	1.09

Overtime pay gave G-E workers more on top of this. G.E. has made jobs for nearly three times as many, 55,766 worked for G.E. ten years ago, 145,000 have jobs today, and at much higher pay.

LOWER PRICES

G.E. has an obligation to a second group of people—the public. The public wants improved products at fair prices.

"More goods for more people at less cost"—G.E.'s goal—is not a part-time assignment. It is a job for management and worker alike if G. E. is to keep growing, keep raising wages, keep making jobs for more workers.

A few figures show typical price decreases:

Refrigerator	1935 $199.00
	1941 129.95
Lamp	1935 .15
	1945 .10
(PLUS TAX)
Transformer	1935 76.32
	1941 69.30
Motor	1935 12.80
	1941 8.50
Radio	1935 47.50
	1941 27.95

G.E. during the war earned 4.7¢ on each dollar of sales. Of this, 4.1¢ was paid to its more than 200,000 stockholders, and the remaining six-tenths of a cent on each dollar was retained in the business to assist in carrying on and expanding its operations.

All money earned over this 4.7¢ was turned back to the U. S. Government. G-E cost-saving methods had made war goods for less money than the Government expected.

These dividends have been paid per share of common stock since 1935:

1935	$.70
1936	1.50
1937	2.20
193890
1939	1.40
1940	1.85
1941	1.75
1942	1.40
1943	1.40
1944	1.40
1945	1.60

GENERAL ELECTRIC'S OBJECTIVE is to keep prices moving downward, keep wages going up, and to earn a fair profit. This calls for volume production, more efficient work and methods. With the help of every single employee, General Electric believes it can show our country, as it did in wartime, an example of American enterprise at its best.

From a WAC In Germany

T/4 Anna Marie Carlson, 820 West Fifth avenue, sends the following greetings from her WAC station in Germany:

Merry Christmas and holiday greetings to everyone back home—to my family, to all my friends, the folks who live next door, the mail man who brings my letters, the grocer in our neighborhood store, the gang in the drug store where I buy my cokes, the bus driver on our run—all the people who would greet me with a warm "Merry Christmas if I were there. Over here, it will be a quiet Christmas. The ruins and piled-up rubble all around us will remind us of tragedies brought upon the world by men not of good will. On Christmas Day, and before, the WACS stationed in the vicinity of Heidelberg, Frankfurt and Wiesbaden will visit with Allied displaced children, to give them a touch of Christmas as we know it. We've hoarded our post exchange purchases, such as candy, cookies, small toys and other trinkets, to share with the youngsters in the UNRRA assembly centers, some of whom have never celebrated Christmas before. Many of these children were rescued from Belsen and Buchenwald, and from other horror camps. All are without parents. There are about 60,000 of them in the American zone alone and, while we can't visit all of them, we will bring a little happiness to several thousand. A great many of the Christmas things you sent us in holiday packages will be shared with these unfortunate children, representing 22 Allied nations. We hope you won't mind. Most of us will be for you for the next Christmas. But for now we can only write you and wish you a "Merry Christmas and Happy New Year."

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

By J. FRANK TRAGLE (Substituting for Jack Stinnett)

WASHINGTON — "Sergeant, open a can of guns."

That isn't so fastidious as it sounds. The Army already has canned some surplus materials and plans to do a whole lot more—including 90-mm. guns and tanks.

Faceted with the problem of what to do with the 3,700,000 vehicles, 750,000 artillery pieces and 30,000,000 small arms left over from the war, Army Ordnance hit upon the idea of packaging the surplus in containers that would protect them from rust and dirt.

An ordnance spokesman said general service vehicles such as trucks would not be packaged because they become obsolete too quickly and long-term storage would be senseless. But tanks would be canned because there is little change in tank design in peacetime, principally because parts usually are not available for such expensive development.

Ordnance describes the packaging process as falling into two categories, short and long term. For short storage the weapon is packed with silica gel, which sucks moisture from the air, and then is sprayed with a plastic coating to protect it from the dirt and weather. SERVICEMEN CLASH WITH DRAGON QUINTET HERE TONIGHT

"Big Five" Faces Difficult Struggle Against One-Time W.H.S. Greats; Game at 8:30

Warren High's Dragon "Big Five" clashes with a collection of local cage immortals tonight, and Victory No. 8 is the aim of Joseph A. Massa's crew as it rounds out the 1945 half of the current season and awaits the invasion by Bradford January 4.

When the two clubs lineup tonight at 8:30 on the Beatty hardwood, basketball followers will see a collection of amazing height plus a conglomeration of some of the foxiest ball players in Warren cage annals.

Early reports today from "Elmo" Wolfe and Gerry Peterson, who are managing the Service men's outfit, indicated that the ex-GIs and soldiers may equal or even better the high school's boast of five six-footers.

Jim Eaton, Chuck Hubbs, and Paul Rapin, all former high school stars, measure 6 foot 3 inches or better, and these three will give the 1945-6 Dragon big fellows a wicked battle on the boards.

Other servicemen who will participate are "Warne" Check, "Tink" Wolfe, Art McKechnie,

"Elmo" Wolfe, Louis Check, Bill Lundahl, and a host of others will head the list of discharged vets who will see action. George Lucia, currently on Penn State's college cage outfit, will also engage in the affair this evening.

All the cagers who will appear on the servicemen's roster are former high school stars. Never will local fans forget the great team of 1937-8 nor the outstanding feats of the players who they will see once again tonight after four years of absence.

The Massamen will send their usual lineup into the fight at 8:30, but they may lose the services of towering Jack Eaton. Big Eaton, who is at present pacing the Dragon scorers with 68 points in seven games, fell last Monday in practice and it is believed that he received a slight ankle sprain.

Mentor Massa stated this morning, however, that he thought Eaton would be in the lineup to ex-

U. S. Loan Bill Is a Potential Crisis For House of Lords

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

London, Dec. 26—England's August house of lords has averted an extremely dangerous crisis for itself by bowing to the will of the labor government and voting for the United States loan.

It is possible—that it must remain a matter of speculation—that the lords might have destroyed themselves had they defied the government. The British press had published the blunt, though unofficial, warning that a revolt on the part of the peers would spell their end as a legislative body.

Of course the house of lords lost most of its authority back in 1911 when Liberal prime minister Asquith jammed through the so-called parliament act which deprived the lords of their veto power over the house of commons.

Under the parliamentary act the house of commons has to pass and repass a measure through three separate sessions of parliament in order to nullify opposition to the lords. Thus the upper house can delay legislation heavily, though it cannot make its veto stick.

It was because of the danger of delay in the matter of the loan that the old Asquith threat was revived in the press.

The intimation was that the government would advise King George to create enough labor peers to dominate the position. However, there has been no official confirmation of such intention and I doubt whether Prime Minister Attlee would make such a move without holding another general election to place the issue before the country.

Because the lords have been shorn of their powers, and because few of the 800 or more noble gentlemen turn out for the sessions (the attendance generally being from 50 to 70), the impression has spread abroad that the upper house is mainly a display room for ermine and coronets. That's an erroneous idea, for the lords perform a most useful service.

It should be remembered that most, or at least many, of the peers are created because of distinguished public service.

Thus the active part of the house of lords comprises men of all walks—doctors, lawyers, surgeons, economists and what not and many are not from the aristocracy. Obvious such a body of men comprise an invaluable advisory board for the house of commons, and their debates have great influence on legislation in the lower house. Lord Keynes, for example, could not have appeared in commons to give details of the loan negotiations and express his personal convictions. But commons and the country got his views through the house of lords.

4 NO TRUMP SHOWS PARTNER A BIG HAND

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Sam P. Davis, with whom I used to play bridge in Cleveland some fifteen years ago, has been commuting for the past several years between White Plains and New York. They play bridge on the train, says Sam, and what bridge? Here is an example he sent me.

The opening one-heart bid was a good start, but it is difficult to say why West bid only two clubs. When North bid three spades, South passed because he did not think it was meant as a forcing bid, but as a pre-emptive one. When North bid four no trump, South woke up and realized that his partner was showing a big

item North came in with a rather weak six-spade bid.

Once again West could have passed the hand out, but decided instead to make the grand sacrifice bid of seven clubs; but North took the gamble and bid seven spades. The bidding would lead one to believe that the train may have gone off the track a couple of times. It was fortunate for North that West was not void in hearts. East, having kept his wits about him, made his best opening lead, the nine of hearts, but North was able to spread the hand and claim seven-odd.

A map made by Christopher Columbus in 1840 was exhibited at the World Congress in Paris in 1932.

After hen eggs have been incubated four days in China, they are examined and the infertile ones are sent to market.

Pennsy Luck Holds Good As Freight Train Leaves the Rails

Proverbial Pennsylvania luck held good again Christmas Day when at 1:25 a.m. nine cars of eastbound freight train left the rails and piled up near Clarendon. Both the main line and a three of which were loaded with siding were blocked by the cars, men and Rigway wrecking crews of various kinds. The Warhawk and six others with merchandise were called out and they succeeded in getting the wrecked cars off the main line at 3:45 p.m. The siding was still blocked according to the railroad informant.

Just what caused the wreck is not known as the freight was a long one and the 45th to 56th cars inclusive left the rails. Investigation is being made and when the debris is removed some idea of

TWO DIED IN PITTSBURGH BLAZE TODAY

Women Lose Lives While Six Others Are Injured As Fire Sweeps Tenement Section

FIREMEN ARE BUSY

Pittsburgh, Dec. 26.—(AP)—Two persons perished and six persons were injured, including four firemen, in a spectacular five-alarm fire which swept a row of five tenement houses in the Herron Hill section early today.

Ten families—30 persons—were routed by the fire, which destroyed three of the buildings and damaged the other two. Firemen estimated the loss at $20,000.

The dead were Mrs. Martha Pulkowski, 54, and her daughter, Mrs. Helen Tolusciak, 39, both of whom had awakened their children, when flames sweeping up a stairway trapped them in their second floor apartment on Paulownia St.

Running to a window, Richard Tolusciak, 8, leaped to safety into the arms of an unidentified man. Sylvia Pulkowski, 14, also tried to leap into the arms of a rescuer, but landed on the sidewalk. Both children were hospitalized with burns. Three other Pulkowski children escaped without incident. Mrs. Pulkowski's husband, Joseph, was injured by a hit-run driver on Christmas eve.

The injured firemen were either burned or cut by flying glass.

Firemen scarcely caught their breath before they were called to another blaze, which swept through a four-story business building on Grant street, opposite the federal building in the downtown section. Starting in the kitchen of the embassy restaurant, the fire caused damage estimated by Fire Chief William H. Davis at $25,000.

The second fire had one casualty—Ann Toomey, 28-year-old waitress employed in the second-floor bartender's club. She was treated for smoke inhalation. Seven persons in the club, including Miss Toomey, were helped or carried down ladders by firemen.

Six alarms were turned in to get extra equipment to the scene and prevent spread of the fire to other buildings. Auto and street car traffic was rerouted in Grant street for hours.

Cotton In Decoration Started Fire

Hartford, Conn., Dec. 26.—(AP)—The Christmas eve fire that took 15 lives at the Niles Street Hospital here got a head start because it burned through telephone wires, causing a delay in the sounding of the alarm, Edward J. Hickey, state police commissioner and state fire marshal, has disclosed.

Because of the few minutes that elapsed between the time the fire broke out in a tinder dry Christmas tree and the sounding of almost simultaneous telephone and box alarms by a next door resident and a passer-by, Hickey said last night, many of the 31 elderly, bedridden patients in the hospital were beyond aid when the first firemen arrived.

Thirteen patients, two of them women over 90, and two kitchen employees died in the fire or within a few minutes after it. Two more patients died yesterday. Fourteen of the victims were women.

Eighteen other persons, 16 patients and two visitors at the institution for convalescents and the chronically ill, were injured, five of them critically. Ten firemen also were hospitalized.

Hickey, planning to resume today the investigation, he began even while firemen were battling the flames and carrying charred (Turn to Page Nine)

President Truman Had Full Day With Missouri Home Folks

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Independence, Mo., Dec. 26.—(AP)—President Truman went merrily about celebrating the Christmas holidays today as his home folk showed every disposition to allow him to do it in his own way.

His round of Yuletide calls spread to Kansas City, where friends were invited to drop into his office in the federal building for an exchange of season greetings.

Mr. Truman covered plenty of territory upon his arrival here yesterday by plane from Washington through street and storm. He went immediately by automobile over icy pavements for a 25-minute visit with his mother, 93-year-old Mrs. Mattie E. Truman, at nearby Grandview.

His delayed departure from Washington, putting him in Kansas City at 5:35 p. m. (eastern standard time), prevented his customary appearance at three Christmas dinners. Upon his return to Independence from Grandview, he ate turkey and trimmings with Mrs. Truman, his daughter, Margaret, and Mrs. Truman's family.

New Shoes for Picket Duty

A new pair of shoes was an appropriate gift from members of the family to John McIntosh of Detroit, on strike from General Motors' Turnstedt plant. He says he'll use them to replace the well-worn pair which has been serving him on picket duty.

Christmas Was Busy Day For State Highway Employees

State highway crews were kept busy all through the day yesterday and most of the night, according to E. M. Lowe, head of the division here. Fourteen trucks were in use continuously Christmas Day, but many of the roads were almost impassable, and four of the trucks were broken down.

Lowe stated this morning that the condition of the roads throughout the county had forced local highwaymen to ask Erie for the use of its rotary plow, which is to be sent here sometime today. It was practically impossible to open some of the roads in Warren county, as well as in almost every other county in this part of the state.

Farmers were unable to bring their milk to market yesterday. The main road from Lottsville to Corydon is completely impassable, and motorists are urged by highway officials to refrain from traveling on some of the country roads.

Local highway trucks were unable to clear the roads in all sections before the snowfall late yesterday afternoon. Now that the temperature has turned colder, said Lowe, it makes it just that much harder to clear the highways.

The dead were tentatively identified as Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson and Caroline Sue Stovall, 10, all residents of the apartments on the upper floor of the two-story building.

Frances Watson, another resident, was unaccounted for, but friends said they believed she was out of the city on a holiday visit.

The injured included Anthony Bruta, truck driver, who explained the explosion: "I stepped on the starter and the butane just took off."

Earle Weds In Turkey On Friday

Istanbul, Dec. 26.—(AP)—George H. Earle, 3rd, 35, former governor of Pennsylvania, soldier, sailor and diplomat, will marry a 23-year-old Belgian beauty here Friday.

The former U. S. minister to Bulgaria and recently placed on inactive duty as a commander in the navy, Earle will marry Jacqueline Marthe Jermine Sacre, Paris-born daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Charles Sacre of Ostend, Belgium.

The bride-to-be's father is in charge of construction of new railroads in southern Turkey.

Earle, who served as Pennsylvania's governor from 1935 to 1939—first Democrat Keystone state had elected in 44 years and one was never elected to that post since—will be married at civil ceremony at the Istanbul municipal building. Only the bride's parents and a few witnesses including Robert B. McAtee, United States consul general, and Charles McVicar, a vice-consul, will attend.

The couple, it was announced, will be remarried in a religious service at the U. S. consulate, Rev. Ezra Young, Pittsburgh Congregationalist minister, will officiate.

Earle has four children by a previous marriage: George, 28; Hubert, 26; Lawrence, 21, and Ralph, 14.

His first wife, Mrs. Huberta Potter Earle, divorced him last June after 29 years of married life.

BIG THREE RESULTS OF CONFERENCE

Will Tell the World Thursday Accomplishments of Moscow Talks and Accord on Topics

MUCH ACHIEVED

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Dec. 26.—(AP)—The Big Three foreign ministers, after a lengthy Christmas Day session, arranged today to announce the results of their 11-day conference, in which achievements were reliably reported to include concrete agreements on several vital world issues.

A British source said a communiqué will be issued at 2 a. m. tomorrow. (6 p. m. today eastern standard time).

The three foreign ministers already have reached an accord on the procedure for drafting the European peace settlement.

Authoritative quarters said U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes was highly pleased with the results of his discussions with Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin.

Far more has been achieved, these quarters said, than was even contemplated when Byrnes left Washington. The full extent of the agreements reached was not indicated, but one of Byrnes' aides said the results would not be disapproving.

One of the accords was said to deal with control of Japan, which was high on the list of complicated problems on the agenda. Whether an agreement was reached on the number one problem, control of atomic energy, remained a matter of speculation.

It was reported, however, that the three foreign ministers had discussed the American-British-Canadian policy on world control of atomic energy during their meetings.

Another important question on the agenda was the withdrawal of British, American and Russian troops from Iran, but the outcome of discussions of this problem also was undisclosed.

The already-announced accord on procedure for drafting European treaties, regarded by observers as close to the compromise formula proposed by Byrnes at the five-power foreign ministers' conference in London, has been submitted to France and China for their approval. China was reported to have approved the agreement already, but no word has been received from the French government.

Byrnes hoped to be able to get away from Moscow sometime today. His advisors expressed doubt that he would be able to do so, but his plane was being held in readiness, however, for immediate departure as soon as the business of the conference was completed.

Farmers were unable to bring their milk to market yesterday. The main road from Lottsville to Corydon is completely impassable, and motorists are urged by highway officials to refrain from traveling on some of the country roads.

Local highway trucks were unable to clear the roads in all sections before the snowfall late yesterday afternoon. Now that the temperature has turned colder, said Lowe, it makes it just that much harder to clear the highways.

The dead were tentatively identified as Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson and Caroline Sue Stovall, 10, all residents of the apartments on the upper floor of the two-story building.

Santa Barbara, Calif., Dec. 26.—(AP)—Three persons were killed, a fourth missing and five others were injured, none seriously, when an explosion of a butane gas truck destroyed a warehouse-apartment building here today.

The dead were identified as Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson and Caroline Sue Stovall, 10, all residents of the apartments on the upper floor of the two-story building.

The annual meeting of the Coffee Club was held Christmas morning at 11 o'clock at the Geracimos store. Many tried and true members were present and the club settled many long mooted questions. The annual election of a president was held and B. V. Lesser was elected due to his unbending attitude on many of the matters under consideration by the organization.

THE STATE POLICE SAY:

Keep a watchful eye for the white cane with the red tip, the cane that afflicted persons carry for their protection when crossing streets or highways. When a motorist observes in traffic a man or woman carrying a white cane with a red tip that driver should slow down or stop, if necessary, traffic signals or no traffic signals, to guarantee the safety of that individual. For that person is blind and the cane is a symbol of his affliction, and his only protection against death or injury at the hands of some careless driver.

Warren folks who have a yen for good fun on New Year's Eve are making reservations in a big way for the annual New Year Fiesta of the Marconi Outing Club. A special floor show will be given and there will be plenty of noise makers and other features.

Why are Prescriptions often Written in Latin?

• Perhaps you have noticed that the prescriptions which your physician writes are usually written in Latin. No doubt you have wondered why. Prescriptions are written in Latin because Latin is a dead and never-changing language, universally employed in medical practice. A Latin prescription written in America or England can be filled in Puerto Rico, Russia, or France, even though the pharmacist may not know a word of English. On the other hand, no matter where your prescriptions may be written, we can fill them promptly and accurately. That is our specialty.

Cars Taken To Aid Movement Of Soldiers

In spite of the heavy passenger movements on the local division of the Pennsylvania railroad there can be no extra coaches added to the trains as cars have been taken to the west coast in large numbers. Both the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads report that hundreds of cars have been made up into trains and rushed to the west coast in an effort to get returning troops to their homes in the east.

Railroads are being taxed as never before and the advice to stay at home should be taken literally by all. Only strictly necessary trips should be taken until the peak of troop movement is passed which is expected in February.

Local trains have been crowded to capacity during the past few days and Indiantown Gap put through almost 5000 men on the day before Christmas so that the men could be home for the holiday.

MANY ACCIDENTS

Holiday travelers who dared the hazardous driving conditions yesterday were met by wet, icy roads, and in many places plows and cinder crews had failed to operate. There were many accidents along the highways in this section, especially. Dozens of cars could be seen in ditches along the roads.

Hospitals and Institutions Have Very Fine Christmas

Hospitals, institutions, and homes throughout the county enjoyed very merry Christmas celebrations yesterday, and Warren county folk responded very well in helping to make the festivities more enjoyable for many of the less fortunate.

At the Rouse Hospital in Youngsville, a sumptuous Christmas dinner was served which included chicken, mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce, bread and butter, coffee, pie and ice cream. Many gifts were contributed by the Times Publishing Company, and the Kiwanis Club held services there last Thursday.

The Children's home here was the scene of a very fine Yuletide celebration. Many of the children had Christmas dinners at the Children's Home in Sheffield. The Army filled all of its requests for baskets, and it also visited at the Warren General Hospital. The Salvation Army Christmas party will be held tomorrow night at 7:45.

At the Warren General Hospital, turkey dinner was served to all the patients, and wards, private rooms, and dining rooms were all decorated with Christmas trees and trimmings. The Warren State Hospital also had a very appropriate dinner and service.

Inmates at the county jail enjoyed a turkey dinner with all the trimmings, too. There were five in the jail.

All in all, every institution and hospital in the county had very fine Christmas dinners, services, and celebrations.

THE REFRESHING WISDOM OF YOUTH

The young people have taken a pretty severe mental, spiritual and psychological—if not physical—beating during the past half-dozen years.

There has been talk, talk, talk and printed words by the yard, on the problems of juvenile delinquency. Elders, oftentimes in patronizing fashion, have pontificated on the problem and how it should be solved.

It is refreshing, therefore, to take note of the fact that the children and youth of America's schools are busy searching for standards of the good life while their seniors the land across are preoccupied with fault-finding, name-calling, backbiting, lurid disputes on a variety of matters.

A country-wide poll of high school student opinion on "proper aims in life" results in this verdict:

Happiness, the "simple life" and security are infinitely more desirable than money, fame or personal power. Only four per cent of the youngsters polled declared that their chief aim in life is to "make money." More than 44 per cent said they prefer "a simple, secure and happy life without making a lot of money or becoming famous."

Grownups would do well to ponder the results of this poll—as well as some of the more specific replies, such as these:

1. "Most people would be a lot happier if they were not trying to be big-shots."

2. "Only those who are happy can be genuinely successful."

3. "We must pursue higher goals if we want a better and more intelligent world."

SERMON IN UNPREPAREDNESS

There is, or ought to be, a sermon in preparedness in two statements made recently by American military leaders.

There was this declaration from Brig. Gen. Emmett O'Donnell of the U. S. Army Air Forces:

"Due to the hysterical demands of the people made upon congressmen to get the boys home, today we have no air force worthy of the name; we are in a bad way defensively."

The other was the statement made by General Marshall before the Pearl Harbor investigating committee:

"A month before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, we were not in any position whatever to back up with military strength any warning that might have served to Japan."

Inevitable conclusion to be drawn from General O'Donnell's remark is that we are on our way—and losing no time about it—back to the condition of unpreparedness which existed before the war. Our magnificent military strength, greatest in world history, already has been largely dissipated.

And one realizes from General Marshall's testimony that the situation he described as existing before Pearl Harbor is this very condition of unpreparedness—we're in a bad way defensively"—into which we're again sinking, and fast.

Will the United States of America ever learn to put its trust in strength, not in fate?

FAVORITE STORY

Izaak Walton, the pioneer angler, used to tell about a certain braggart who always boasted about the size and weight of the fish he caught, proving his claims with a certain pair of scales—always the same.

One day during his absence from home, a neighbor woman dropped in with a month-old infant, asked to weigh it. The bragging fisherman's scales were produced. Imagine the mother's astonishment when the babe's weight zoomed to 52 pounds!

The angler was asked later to explain the seeming inaccuracy of his scales. But he beamed proudly at the baby's mother:

The angler was asked later to explain the seeming inaccuracy of his scales. But he beamed proudly at the baby's mother:

"Why, Mrs. Jones," said he, "I've always told you that baby was big for his age."

MACKENZIE'S Column

AP World Traveler
Dublin, Dec. 26.—The comparatively new republic of Eire has come through the vicissitudes of birth and not only is enjoying greater prosperity than southern Ireland has known before but the signs seem propitious for even better times.

The way things look now the emerald isle, with its silver lakes and mild climate—a paradise for golfers and fishermen—may become a favorite holiday resort for countries of both hemispheres. This possibility lies in the fact that it is a major strategic stop on the northern air route between America and Europe. Eire now is energetically developing her own airline to the big English airport at Croydon, from which other lines radiate to the continent, making Ireland an easy place to reach.

Since I realize the reader may be remarking that Eire owes part of her better times to the fact that she was neutral in the war, despite American and British pleas for naval bases. It's true that Eire did profit economically by her neutrality, and I shall deal with that in another article.

Now in speaking of greater prosperity for Eire I don't want to give a wrong impression. She is vastly better off than she was, but it's only a dozen years ago that the poverty in many areas was appalling. Thousands lived on potatoes and salt, and were happy if they had a bit of bread as well. Starvation swept wide areas when the potato crop failed.

In the few years that the government under the leadership of Eamon De Valera has been in power, there has been a reorganization of the country's economy. Southern Ireland used to depend mainly on cattle raising for its income. Meantime it imported two-thirds of its foodstuffs and much of its fodder.

I visited Dublin in 1932, when De Valera was starting his reform, and studied his program. The country then grew only 31,000 acres of wheat. Now it produces 660,000 acres—the entire requirement of the country—and grows all its fodder besides. Manufactures also have been started, though the war has interfered.

The cleaning up of slums has gone forward, and when the war made rebuilding impossible, the government continued to remodel slum buildings with the existing materials. Nowadays, too, the underprivileged, the unemployed, widows with children, and aged people get help from the government. I was told in official quarters that there no longer is destitution in the country. This doesn't mean that there isn't privation, but that everybody has food. The government assistance isn't maintenance, but is limited to the removal of destitution.

Official quarters tell me that the country is on its feet economically. It is, they add with pride, prepared to meet the post-war stresses and take advantage of opportunities.

"Think You're Big Enough to Handle Him, Boys?"

Washington Daybook

By J. FRANK TRAGLE
(Substituting for Jack Stinnett)

WASHINGTON—Extraterritoriality fills your mouth with teeth when you try to pronounce it, but a lot of people are talking about it these days.

It has been applied to the diplomatic field for years. If the United Nations Organization is established in the United States, you'll hear much more of it.

Major La Guardia of New York has stated that he is confident New York City eventually will be selected as the home for UNO and has suggested that some thought be given to extraterritoriality—a word almost as long as Mr. La Guardia is tall.

This immunity is extended also to an ambassador or minister, his secretaries and other aides, his family, his household servants and others officially associated with him.

Technically an American cop cannot pinch an ambassador for driving his car through a stop sign or for burning down a church to see the fire engines run. In fact, if such an arrest is made, a police officer can be sentenced to up to three years in jail and fined any amount a judge considers proper.

But there are ways of checking abuses. Were a diplomatic representative to make himself obnoxious by wilfully disregarding this nation's laws, the U.S. State Department could make his activities known to his government. It's a good bet the erring diplomat would be called home.

A government also can waive the right of diplomatic immunity and permit one of its representatives to be tried in a court of the nation where an offense is committed.

This diplomatic immunity—which is enjoyed equally by American officials abroad—stems from something more than an effort on the part of one nation to be polite to another's representatives. It has a practical application: to permit a foreign government to conduct its affairs abroad without interference or molestation.

HERE'S AN example of what might happen if such immunity were not practiced:

Nation A and Nation B aren't on good terms. So A decides to hamper the work of B's representatives. It winches the ambassador for speeding, a secretary for spitting on the sidewalk, another aide for whistling after 9 p.m., and pretty soon the whole staff is locked up.

Nation B then retaliates by pinching all of A's staff. Work is interrupted, not only for the two nations in question, but for all other nations wishing to carry on negotiations with A and B.

Thrift at the expense of health is not thrift at all, but folly. Seeing your physician at regular intervals is far less expensive than long bouts with illness which those visits might have prevented.

When you establish good health habits you assure yourself of greater happiness, success and better living. See your doctor at least once a year and follow his recommendations. By so doing you may very well save yourself some real money in addition to maintaining a good state of health.

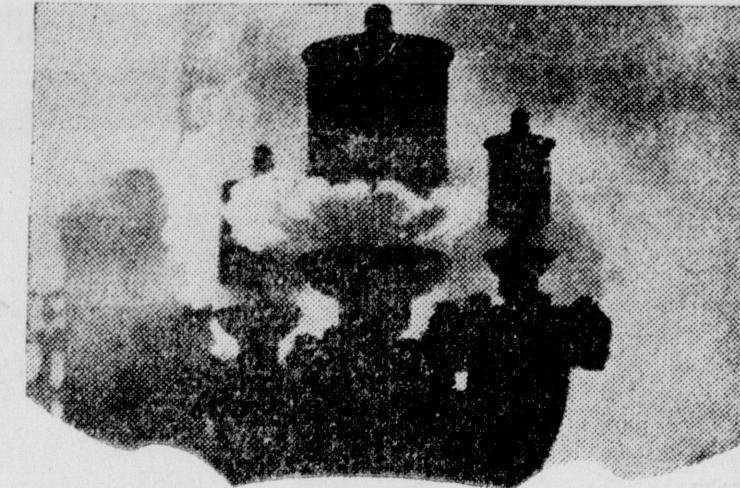

Should your doctor write a prescription, choose the druggist to fill it with the same care as you chose the doctor to treat you.

From a WAC In Germany

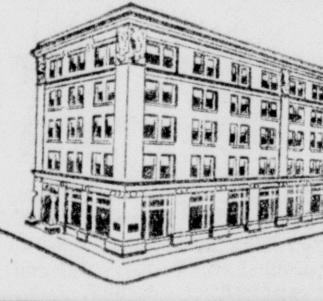

Greetings
T/4 Anna Marie Carlson, 820 West Fifth avenue, sends the following greetings from her WAC station in Germany: Merry Christmas and happy greetings to everyone back home—to my family, to all my friends, the folks who live next door, the mail man who brings my letters, the grocer in our neighborhood store, the gang in the drug store where I buy my coikes, the bus driver on our run—to all the people who would greet me with a warm "Merry Christmas if I were there. Over here, it will be a quiet Christmas. The ruins and piled-up rubble all around us will remind us of tragedies brought upon the world by men not of good will. On Christmas Day, and before, the WACS stationed in the vicinity of Heidelberg, Frankfurt and Wiesbaden will visit with Allied displaced children, to give them a touch of Christmas as we know it. We've hoarded our post exchange purchases, such as candy, cookies, small toys and other trinkets, to share with the youngsters in the UNRRA assembly centers, some of whom have never celebrated Christmas before. Many of these children were rescued from Belsen and Buchenwald, and from other horror camps. All are without parents. There are about 60,000 of them in the American zone alone and, while we can't visit all of them, we will bring a little happiness to several thousand. A great many of the Christmas things you sent us in holiday packages will be shared with these unfortunate children, representing 22 Allied nations. We hope you won't mind. Most of us will be with you for the next Christmas. But for now we can only write you and wish you a "Merry Christmas and Happy New Year."

THAT'S FOR ME!

"That's one of the reasons I'm saving every drop of used cooking fat," says Mrs. Harry Weir who is dreaming of a home like this when her husband returns from overseas. Unless kitchen fat salvage continues to account for 10% of our production of inedible tallow and grease, as it did during war years, laundry soap, packaged soaps, floating soaps, plus building materials will be even more scarce than they are now.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

By J. FRANK TRAGLE

(Substituting for Jack Stinnett)
WASHINGTON — "Sergeant, open a can of guns!"

That isn't so far-fetched as it sounds. The Army already has canned some surplus materials and plans to do a whole lot more—including 90mm guns and tanks.

During the war much equipment, stored for only comparatively short periods, was lost to rust before it could be put into action against the enemy. This was especially true on some of the tropical islands of the Pacific.

An ordnance spokesman said general service vehicles such as trucks would not be packaged because they become obsolete too quickly and long-term storage would be senseless. But tanks would be canned because there's little change in tank design in peacetime, principally because funds usually are not available for such expensive development.

THE ARMY Ordnance Association magazine Firepower describes the process as costing about five per cent of the original cost of the weapon. That would be about $1,500 for a $30,000 tank—dirt cheap when it is remembered that an overhaul alone might run as high as $5,000.

Ordnance describes the packaging process as falling into two categories, short and long term. For short storage the weapon is packed with silicon gel, which sucks moisture from the air, and then is sprayed with a plastic coating to protect it from the dirt and weather. When the weapon is needed the leather-like coating is peeled off.

For long-term storage the weapon is placed in an air-tight steel can with silicon gel trimmings inside. Air, which contains rust-causing oxygen, is sucked from the can and nitrogen is pumped in. Thus packaged, the weapon can be stored indefinitely.

Ordnance expects this development will have to await the availability of funds.

Much credit for the development must go to Lt. Gen. Levin H. Campbell, Jr., chief of Ordnance. Twenty-five years ago Campbell, then a captain at Rock Island Arsenal, experimentally canned some 90mm recoil mechanisms in oil. When World War II came along, America began searching frantically for weapons to be shipped to England. Ordnance officers opened General Campbell's canned goods and found the mechanisms as good as new.

ALTHOUGH Ordnance has experimented with all types of packaging, large-scale operations will have to await the availability of funds.

Much credit for the development must go to Lt. Gen. Levin H. Campbell, Jr., chief of Ordnance. Twenty-five years ago Campbell, then a captain at Rock Island Arsenal, experimentally canned some 90mm recoil mechanisms in oil. When World War II came along, America began searching frantically for weapons to be shipped to England. Ordnance officers opened General Campbell's canned goods and found the mechanisms as good as new.

SERVICEMEN CLASH WITH DRAGON QUINTET HERE TONIGHT

"Big Five" Faces Difficult Struggle Against One-Time W.H.S. Greats; Game at 8:30

Warren High's Dragon "Big Five" clashes with a collection of local cage immortals tonight, and Victory No. 8 is the aim of Joseph A. Massa's crew as it rounds out the 1945 half of the current season and awaits the invasion by Bradford January 4.

When the two clubs line up tonight at 8:30 on the Beaty hardwood, basketball followers will see a collection of amazing height plus a conglomeration of some of the foxiest ball players in Warren cage annals.

Early reports today from "Elmo" Wolfe and Gerry Peterson, who are managing the Servicemen's outfit, indicated that the ex-GIs and soldiers may equal or even better the high school's boast of five six-footers.

Jim Eaton, Chuck Hubbs, and Paul Rapin, all former high school stars, measure 6 foot 3 inches or better, and these three will give the 1945-6 Dragon big fellows a wicked battle on the bankboards tonight. Other servicemen who will participate are "Warne" Check, "Tink" Wolfe, Art McKeegan.

"Elmo" Wolfe, Louis Check, Bill Lundahl, and a host of others will head the list of discharged vets who will see action. George Lucia, currently on Penn State's college cage outfit, will also engage in the affair this evening.

All the cagers who will appear on the servicemen's roster are former high school stars. Never will local fans forget the great team of 1937-8 nor the outstanding feats of the players who they will see once again tonight after four years of absence.

The Massmen will send their usual lineup into the fight at 8:30, but they may lose the services of towering Jack Eaton. Big Eaton, who is at present pacing the Dragon on scorers with 68 points in seven games, fell last Monday in practice and it is believed that he received a slight ankle sprain.

Mentor Massa stated this morning, however, that he thought Eaton would be in the lineup to ex-

Backward Kick Score Oddity Of '45 Season

By JOE REICHLER

New York, Dec. 26—(AP)—The backward punt play that wound up with the kicker scoring the touchdown that gave U.C.L.A.'s Rose Bowl hopes a terrific booting has been voted the No. 1 sports oddity of 1945.

Thirty one of the 82 sports writers who participated in the annual Associated Press poll to uncover the whacky events of the year, agreed that the manner in which California scored its 6-0 upset over U.C.L.A. even overshadowed the weird occurrences of the World Series.

In that now famous football game of last Nov. 24, California had the ball on its own 33-yard line when left end Jack LeRond dropped back to punt. The slippery ball slithered off the side of his foot and went in reverse. Ed Welch, LeRond's teammate, went back to scoop up the ball on the 15-yard line and then toted the leather down to U.C.L.A.'s 40-yard line. Just as he was about to be tackled he lateralized to LeRond who romped the rest of the way for the game's sole tally.

Football came up with plenty of other singular events. There was the dog that wandered on the field during the Indiana-Illinois football game and cost the Hoosiers a touchdown. The referee blew the whistle just as Indiana began scoring play. Luckily, Indiana won, 6-0, anyway.

Owner Frank Beisler promised the Bisons the bonus money—to be divided between all the players—if they were in first place in the eastern division race the day after Christmas.

Helping Hands

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, Dec. 26—(AP)—One of the first real post-war sports revivals gets under way today in the first national junior and boys' indoor tennis championships since 1940. . . And it may have a greater bearing on the future of tennis than you would think. . . Such players as Seaman, Dick Savitt of Bayonne, N. J., and Memphis, Tenn., Sidney Schwartz, Alan Watson and the boy's outdoor champion, Mick Mouldous of New Orleans, may be the inter-nationalists of a very few years from now. . . The reliable of pre-war seasons either are past their peak or aren't interested in full-time competition. . . For instance Ted Schroeder who figured in speculation about the 1946 Davis Cup team, already has declared himself out. . . Just out of the navy, Ted figures he'll be too busy and besides "anyone is really going to have a struggle to get me to travel down to the corner drug store for about the next ten years." . . . Jack Kramer, Frank Parker, Bill Talbert and Gardner Mulloy likely will be available for 1946, but when they drop out it will be up to the kids.

A Natural

At a basketball game between Colgate and Cortland, N. Y., teachers the other night the officials were Power (Winford W.) and Light (Ben A.). . . No doubt the 34 fouls they called were due to short circuits.

One-Minute Sports Page

Commissioner Happy Chandler and Cubs manager Charlie Grimm have been invited to speak at the meeting of the Association of College Baseball Coaches at St. Louis, Jan. 8. . . It would be good entertainment if, instead of talking, Charlie played his southpaw banjo while Happy sang. . . Drake University will set some sort of line down the middle.

It's an old baseball axiom that the team with the best fielders on a line from the plate to centerfield is always a pennant contender.

The Tigers, according to official fielding statistics, had the junior circuit's strongest defensive catcher, pitcher, second baseman and centerfielder.

Future baseball generations may wonder about it, but the American League's most efficient outfielder in 1945 was 41-year-old (that much he admits) Roger (Doc) Cramer, Detroit centerfielder, who committed only three miffs in 324 chances for a .991 average.

The best second baseman was consistent Eddie Mayo of the Bergals with .980 as he fumbled only 15 times in 734 chances. Paul Richards, Detroit's strong-bean receiver, topped the league catchers with .995 miffing only twice in 407 chances.

Newhouse, the season's best pitcher, led his mound colleagues in fielding as he handled 82 chances without mishap.

Rounding out the all-star infield on the basis of fielding statistics were Mickey Rocco of Cleveland at first base with .992 on 10 errors in 1,228 tries; shortstop Vern Parsons of St. Louis, .961 on 28 errors in 723 chances, and third baseman George Kell, of Philadelphia, .964 on 20 bobbles in 551 risks.

Manager Lou Boudreau of Cleveland, who last year set a league shortstop record of .978, fielded .983 this year but played in only 97 games because of injury.

The proposal for an eight-team league involving four English teams and teams representing Boston, New York, Philadelphia and Washington was made by Walter Brown, president of the Indians and New York.

Kurkland And Co. Favored To Cop Title

By SAUL FELDMAN

Oklahoma City, Dec. 26—(AP)—The tenth annual all-college basketball tournament opens today with the favored Oklahoma Aggies in pursuit of their fifth title against what their coach, Henry Iba, calls the toughest field in the ten years his team has been competing in the meet.

While optimism about his Aggies' chances Iba cushioned his enthusiasm by saying Forrest C. (Phog) Allen's University of Kansas Jayhawkers "have a good team and all the rest of the clubs seem to be better manned than last year."

The Aggies, defending champions, meet undefeated Texas tonight in the second game of a doubleheader. In the first the University of Oklahoma and Texas Christian clash.

In the afternoon, Kansas meets Rice and Pepperdine mixes with Baylor in the first round.

The Aggies, national basketball champions, have a season's record of four victories and one defeat to DePaul.

If they and Kansas, seeded No. 2 in the tourney, come through their first round games, the two will clash in the semi-finals tomorrow night in the first renewal of their bitter court rivalry since 1943.

Enchanted Journey

By Helen R. Woodward

AP Newsfeature

Chapter 1

TWILIGHT came caressingly into the charming, flower-scented room high above the traffic noises of the city, where the two women sat—Laura Lacey and Edith, her daughter.

Each was occupied with her own absorbing thoughts—Laura with the letter that had come that day so suddenly out of the past to shatter the present. Soon she must make known the contents of that letter to her daughter. And Edith, busy with those exciting, heart-stirring contemplations which youth encounters on the threshold of maturity.

Their faces in the shadows were strangely unlike of feature, yet each was marked with characteristic gentleness and breeding. Yet it was hard to reconcile the golden beauty of Laura with the dark, glowing piety of Edith—unless one knew the story of Whit Lacey, Edith's father. Then one knew that it was quite natural for her to look as she did, with her deep, widely-set eyes with thick lashes that flared back like curved fans. Her dark hair seemed always a little blown, its ends curling in about her neck and ears. Her skin was that flawless cream-white that is unaffected by wind and sun and which goes with very red lips.

The letter from Whitney Lacey, Edith's father, asking that his daughter be permitted to visit him for the summer, had brought back memories to Laura that had almost been forgotten in the crowded sixteen years since she had left him.

She knew that now was the time to tell Edith about it—here in the quiet room when no one would interrupt them for a little while. She might not have her daughter so completely to herself again for some time.

And there was that other confidence Laura must make soon—that thrilling secret crowding for release from her heart—until Edith's reaction to that, Laura would not know whether to be completely happy. But that would have to wait.

E D I T H , a surprising thing happened today.

She had the feeling that Edith had been miles away, treading upon some ground where her mother could not follow.

Laura said, "I had a letter from your father."

Edith sat up straighter at this, her interest genuinely captured, her dark eyes wide with surprise. "But what on earth could he want?"

"You'll be surprised! He wants you to visit him for three months!"

Edith remained silent while the little jeweled clock on the mantelpiece ticked off the moments. After the most perfect indifference to her existence for sixteen years, it seemed almost more than she could believe that now her father was to evidence some degree of interest in her. At last she found her voice. It was tingled with indignation.

"You'll be surprised! He wants you to visit him for three months!"

U. S. Loan Bill Is a Potential Crisis For House of Lords

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

London, Dec. 26—England's August house of lords has averted an extremely dangerous crisis for itself by bowing to the will of the labor government and voting for the United States loan.

It is possible—that it must remain a matter of speculation—that the lords might have destroyed themselves had they defied the government. The British press had published the blint, though unofficial, warning that a revolt on the part of the peers would spell their end as a legislative body. Of course the house of lords lost most of its authority back in 1911 when Liberal prime minister Asquith jammed through the so-called parliament act which deprived the lords of their veto power over the house of commons.

Under the parliamentary act the house of commons has to pass and repass a measure through three separate sessions of parliament in order to nullify opposition to the lords. Thus the upper house can delay legislation heavily, though it cannot make its veto stick.

It was because of the danger of delay in the matter of the loan that the old Asquits threat was revived in the press.

The intimation was that the government would advise King George to create enough labor peers to dominate the position. However, there has been no official confirmation of such intention and I doubt whether Prime Minister Attlee would make such a move without holding another general election to place the issue before the country.

Because the lords have been shorn of their powers, and because few of the 800 or more noble gentlemen turn out for the sessions (the attendance generally being from 50 to 70), the impression has spread abroad that the upper house is mainly a display room for ermine and coronets. That's an erroneous idea, for the lords perform a most useful service.

It should be remembered that most, or at least many, of the peers are created because of distinguished public service.

Thus the active part of the house of lords comprises men of all walks—doctors, lawyers, surgeons, economists and what not and many are not from the aristocracy. Obvious such a body of men comprise an invaluable advisory board for the house of commons, and their debates have great influence on legislation in the lower house. Lord Keynes, for example, could not have appeared in commons to give details of the loan negotiations and express his personal convictions. But commons and the country got his views through the house of lords.

McKenney On Bridge

4 NO TRUMP SHOWS PARTNER A BIG HAND

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

Sam P. Davis, with whom I used to play bridge in Cleveland some fifteen years ago, has been commuting for the past several years between White Plains and New York. They play bridge on the train, says Sam, and what bridge! Here is an example he sent me.

The opening one-heart bid was a good start, but it is difficult to say why West bid only two clubs. When North bid three spades, South passed because he did not think it was meant as a forcing bid, but as a pre-emptive one. When North bid four no trump, South woke up and realized that his partner was showing a big hand. He showed his two aces with the Blackwood bid of five hearts.

time North came in with a rather weak six-spade bid. Once again West could have passed the hand out, but decided instead to make the grand sacrifice bid of seven clubs; but North took the gamble and bid seven spades. The bidding would lead one to believe that the train may have gone off the track a couple of times. It was fortunate for North that West was not void in hearts. East, having kept his wits about him, made his best opening lead, the nine of hearts, but North was able to spread the hand and claim seven-odd.

A map made by Christopher Columbus in 1840 was exhibited at the World Congress in Paris in 1932.

West put in another meek bid of six clubs, and now for the first

Pennsy Luck Holds Good As Freight Train Leaves the Rails

Proverbial Pennsylvania luck held good again Christmas Day when at 1:25 a.m. nine cars of eastbound freight train left the rails and piled up near Clarendon. Both the main line and a three of which were loaded with siding were blocked by the cars, men and Rigby wrecking crews of various kinds. The Warhawk and six others with merchants were called out and they succeeded in getting the wrecked cars off the main line at 3:45 p.m. The siding was still blocked, according to the railroad informant.

Just what caused the wreck is not known as the freight was a long one and the 48th to 56th cars inclusive left the rails. Investigation is being made and when the debris is removed some idea of the cause is expected to be obtained.

The morning trains on this division yesterday were detoured by way of Olean and mail and passengers between Warren and Emporium were transported by bus and truck.

It is also reported that on December 24th a pusher engine ran into the rear of a freight just east of Kane and the cabin was wrecked. Passenger trains were held at Kane and Wilcox until this was cleared up.

The train was five hours late in arriving in Warren due to connections east of Emporium. The train was jammed to its capacity with returning soldiers and civilians who had been away for the holiday.

London, Dec. 26.—(P)—An army spokesman said today that the cruiser Augusta, one of the United States warships being used as a troop transport, was considerably damaged three days ago in heavy seas and had put into Portsmouth for repairs. The army said the Augusta's sailing date was indefinite and that all troops aboard had been sent back to their staging area. No other details were announced.

Peiping, Dec. 26.—(P)—Eight hundred thousand ounces of opium confiscated by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's headquarters after the Japanese surrender in Peiping will be burned publicly in the great forecourt of the forbidden city on New Year's Day.

An unidentified assailant today fired on Premier Sultan Sjahri of the unrecognized Indonesian Republic in Java, which has seen with unrest and sporadic fighting since the war's end. Five Eurasians and a Surinamese, who also shot the premier with a pistol but were taken into custody in Batavia by British military police who came to Sjahri's assistance. The suspects were described as wearing Dutch uniforms.
